ABOUT OUR ATTORNEYS

Employers face unprecedented exposure to workplace regulation and legal entanglement with employees. Husch Blackwell Sanders' Labor & Employment practice group is anchored by experienced attorneys who have guided employers, from start-up businesses to Fortune 500 companies, regionally and nationally, in labor and employment matters. Our group's extensive knowledge base of employment and labor matters ensures consistently high-quality advice and representation. Years of experience gained through successful representation of long-standing corporate clients have given our labor and employment lawyers the well-earned reputation for pragmatism, responsiveness and client-oriented results.
